

GOBLINS, GHOSTS TO MARCH AGAIN
HERE THURSDAY

Legion and Merchants Combine for Annual Mardi Gras

COSTUME WEARERS TO VIE FOR PRIZES

Parade at 7:45 P. M. Will Be Followed by Dance On Broadway

When your neighbor starts to take in his porch swing and the kids round up all the extra corn that is available it's an indication of but one thing—Halloween time.

And when this time of year rolls around, the Charles H. Carey Post No. 56, American Legion, in cooperation with Salem merchants, are always on hand to aid in the celebration.

Celebration Planned

So, this year, as in former years, the merchants and the Legion will top all festivities with their annual Mardi Gras parade and Halloween celebration Thursday night.

The corny, Indians, fat men, tal men, devils, ghosts and hosts of other characters will all emerge from a year's hermitage to parade on State st., which will be cleared of all parking and blocked off from 6 until 9 p. m.

And when the parade is over, the celebration will move onto Broadway where, for an hour and a half, street dance will be held. Loud-speakers furnished by Oscar Me-linger will amplify the orchestra music so that from Pershing to State streets, Broadway will be an open air dance floor.

The members of the Legion will continue their celebration with a party at the Legion home.

School Band In Parade

The Salem High School band, dressed in new crisp uniforms, is to lead the marchers who will form in front of the Legion home on East State st. at 7:15 p. m., for the judging.

Promptly at 7:45 p. m. the parade will begin its march through the city streets after judging for the some 55 prizes offered by the merchants is completed.

Says Women Barbers Never Will Crash
Big Time Clipping

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Because men "fear" them and members of their own sex "mistrust" them, women barbers will never be "big time," C. A. Belmont, of Los Angeles, vice president of the Associated Master Barbers of America, said in an interview today.

"Men don't like to go to a woman barber," Belmont said, "because if they dislike the way she is shaping their hair they can't tell her about it in man's language."

He said the feminine love of romanticism bred a masculine fear of lunar barbers.

Recalling the maternal fondness for their baby curls, men fear women barbers would turn them out mollycoddles, Belmont added.

"Women instinctively feel that a man cuts and styles their hair from a viewpoint of what is beautiful in a man's eyes—and isn't that what a woman wants? A man wants to help a woman appear as beautiful as possible. Another woman does not always want to do this."

Only 3 Veterans Entrain For CCC

LISBON, Oct. 29.—Only three out of 12 veterans applying for CCC camp registration entrained for CCC Yountown, County Service Director Wallace E. King, announced today.

Four veterans were accepted, including Dwight E. Eddy, Arthur B.
Findlay and Willis C. Stanley, all of East Liverpool and John A. Mc-Kee of East Palestine. Findlay later declined to entrain.

Republicans Stress Plans for Workable Program; 'Wild' Promises Hit In Final Drive

First Ward Meeting Opens Series of Rallies This Week; Meetings Scheduled Tonight, Wednesday and Friday

Republicans Outline Program:

1. We will strive for closer cooperation in the police department, thereby creating a higher efficiency necessary for the full and complete protection of the citizens of the City of Salem.
2. We advocate the adoption of a system within our financial budget providing for the lighting of residential districts throughout the night.
3. We advocate a timely sweeping of the business streets with a view to a cleaner and healthier city.
4. We will insist on a thorough and conscientious study to alleviate traffic congestion and provide better parking facilities.
5. We will plan a method to provide the city with a street marking system.
6. We will propose plans from time to time that will insure to civic progress and enjoyment. We will plan for the city a constructive program, contingent upon financial conditions.

Presenting a program based on the possibility of accomplishment, rather than promises merely for vote-getting, Salem Republicans opened their final drive for Tuesday's election at a meeting last night at the Knisley garage on Pershing st. and Howard ave.

The meeting was the first in a series of rallies in the four wards of the city. Others will be held tonight and Wednesday night in the Memorial building.

C. F. Zimmerman Presides

C. F. Zimmerman, first ward councilman seeking re-election, presided. The principal talks were given by George Harroff, mayor nominee, and City Solicitor Lozier Caplan, unopposed for re-election.
Street lights throughout the night, efforts to eliminate traffic Republican ward meetings for the remainder of the week have been scheduled as follows:

Tonight—7 o'clock. At Al-thouse garage, East Pershing st., for Third ward, in charge of P. F. (Judy) Myers, Third ward council candidate.

8 o'clock—At the home of John Burns, North Ellsworth ave., for Second ward, in charge of Cletus Paumier, council candidate Second ward.

Wednesday—7 p. m.—At the Memorial building, for Fourth ward, in charge of George Lewis, council candidate.

Friday night—General rally at Memorial building.

congestion, cleaner streets and a healthier city, cooperation of municipal departments, the marking of streets, and the support of all municipal and civic projects consistent with a sound financial program were advocated by the speakers.

"It would be easy to boldly announce a program calling for all kinds of improvements and projects," commented Mr. Harroff, "but the Republican party has no unworkable platform."

"Veterans generally are 'fed up' with wild promises. We believe they would rather see one job planned and carried out than attempt to visualize a half-dozen rosy schemes for which no money has been provided and for which there likely will be none later." He referred to the so-called "New Broom" plan of the Democratic party two years ago, which, he said, was built largely on promises.

"At that time," he pointed out,
"the Democratic party was given the opportunity and failed to make the most of it. That's not an idle statement merely for political effect. A glance back over the records for the last two years will reveal what has been done."

Mr. Harroff then pointed out that cooperation among the various city departments was essential to good government. He declared particularly that police cooperation is essential to the complete protection of the city and expressed the confidence that the department, with the proper aid, would produce results.

"Six for Five Boys" Racket Is Smashed

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey ripped Manhattan's $1,000,000-a-week small loan racket wide open today and the "six for five boys" scattering.

Fifteen squads of Dewey's investigators, striking at once in surprise raids yesterday, dragged in 27 alleged usurers.

Other arrests will follow, the prosecutor indicated, until he cleans out the "Shylock" racket, which has been bleeding wage earners of as high as 1040 per cent interest.

The loan racket poured profits of $200,000 a week into the money lenders' pockets on an estimated $1,000,000 a week business, the Russell Sage foundation declared.

the Republican party is solidly behind a program for civic improvement and welfare and always has been.

"However," he added, "such programs must be built with an eye to the financial resources of the city."

"We will propose plans, from time to time, that will insure to the civic progress and enjoyment of the city. But, at the same time, we will consider, first of all, the question—can we afford it?"

Solicitor Caplan briefly outlined aims of the Republican party. He pointed out that the program, "the 1936 model," had been worked out by the Republican candidates who had united to perfect a plan of work and who had pledged themselves, if elected, to remain united in the fulfillment of the program.

The remaining points of the program, he explained, will be discussed at other ward meetings this week.

'BIG BROTHERS' PUSH AUTO LAW

Three Die When Machine Crashes Into Side Of Train

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1.—Columbus cleaned up after its worst automobile accident in weeks today while the Big Brothers' association pleaded for adoption of a drivers' license law.

Two men and a woman were killed last night when their automobile crashed into the side of the crack "Spirit of St. Louis" on the Pennsylvania railroad.

Investigation Opens
The woman who died a short time later was identified as Mrs.
Dorothy Barker, about 37, of Columbus.

Joe Burgle, 40, of Delaware, riding with them in the small roadster, was injured slightly.

Coroner E. E. Smith, opening an investigation with county and railroad police, quoted Burgle as saying all members of the party had drunk some liquor before the crash.

C. C. Seagle, watchman at the crossing, said the driver disregarded his signals to stop and drove at a "road speed into the train."

The Big Brothers' association set at 200 the number of lives that might have been saved in Ohio in 1935 had the state had a drivers' license law. It adopted a resolution calling upon the legislature to enact such a law. Governor Davey has approved a bill to be presented soon.

Chief of Police
Renews Warning

In view of property damage already caused by boys and girls through Halloween pranks, Chief of Police Ralph N. Stoffer renewed his warning today that severe Halloween antics would not be tolerated.

The youths have been asked to refrain from the use of soap, grease and paddles. A year ago several windows were broken by the celebrated swinging paddles, the chief said.

"Police will be on the lookout," Chief Stoffer said, "for the offenders."

2 Women Attacked
In Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—An attack upon two young women in a North Side hotel spurred police today to fresh efforts to find "the scourge," who flogged and criminally assailed several women in the Austin district a few weeks ago.

The authorities said a man, armed with a pistol, forced his way into a room of the hotel last night and criminally attacked Miss Anne Wilhelm, 29, of Milwaukee, after he bound her and a girl friend and lashed them with a belt.

Will Be Paroled

Albert Miller, who was sentenced from Columbus county on a burglary and larceny charge, will be paroled from the London prison farm on March 1, the state board of paroles announced today.

LOWER EXPENSE NOW CITED IN CITY HALL PLEA

Solicitor Lozier Caplan Speaks at Garden Club Meeting

COSTS WILL RISE, SPEAKER ASSERTS

Says Building Should Be One of Which City
Can Be Proud

A new city hall building can be constructed at far less expense now than it can within a few years, declared City Solicitor Lozier Caplan as he addressed members of the Garden club at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon in the Memorial building here.

Government To Aid

The federal government, Caplan pointed out, will provide 45 per cent of the cost at the present time, and the federal government will take up the bonds issued by the city at a premium of four per cent. This the government will do in order to encourage building and jobs for men on relief.

When the PWA ceases to function, Caplan went on, the city, in order to erect a city hall, will find itself faced with the problem of providing all the money, instead of only 55 per cent, and it will also pay a considerably higher interest rate on its bonds, possibly five or six per cent.

The city hall, he pointed out, has been condemned as a fire hazard by the state fire marshal. The state has the authority to compel the city to tear down the building.

"Would it not be better judgment," Solicitor Caplan asked, "to take advantage of government help now rather than throw the entire burden upon taxpayers in later years?"

Believe In Economy

"The state says the building must come down. The city therefore has no choice. We believe in economy, naturally, but economy that makes the city twice as much in later years, certainly is not good economy."

"The city hall is the home of our local government. It must be representative of us. Shall this building, then, continue as a tawdry, make-shift affair or shall it be a structure of which we can be proud?"

6 Screen Stars Are Ill; Two of Them Seriously

(By Associated Press)
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 29.— Grave anxiety was felt today over the condition of Mae Marsh, screen star of yesterday, and Gordon Westcott, young polo-playing actor.
Four other prominent filmland figures were in hospitals, less seriously ill.

Recovery Doubtful

Miss Marsh, who rose to fame more than 20 years ago under the tutelage of D. W. Griffith, in his masterpiece, "Birth of a Nation," was dangerously ill. Gangrene poisoning set in after an operation for appendicitis, and physicians feared her chances of recovery were slim.

Westcott, brought here three years ago from the New York stage, was in an equally critical condition suffering from hemorrhages at the base of the skull from an injury received in a spill during a polo game Sunday.

Still another screen favorite, Adolphe Menjou, remained seriously ill from a chronic stomach ailment.

Occupying an adjoining room was his actress-wife, Verree Teasdale, ill with colitis. She was moved from the Menjou home to be near her husband.

Buster Keaton was reported improving after a nervous breakdown and John Barrymore was recovering from an attack of "nerves" and a severe cold.

Ohio Farmers Vote
More Than 5 to 1

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—Unofficial and still incomplete returns on the agricultural adjustment and administration's referendum on its corn-hog program showed today Ohio farmers favored it by more than five to one.

An Associated Press poll of 86 of the state's 88 counties showed 28,751 for and 5,102 against.

Present non-contract signers voted 4,009 for and 2,489 against.

Surgeons Describe Latest In Miracles Of Operation

Portions of Skull, Other Diseased Parts, Removed From Body, Cured, and Put Back In Place

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—A miracle of brain surgery by which portions of the skull are removed, cured of their ills outside, and restored safely to the head hours after or even weeks later, was described before the American College of Surgeons here today.

The technique is a step in the direction of taking out diseased parts and putting them back after

BORN TO ROYALTY OR TO REIGN

These children were born to rulers or to rule.
Their lives are intricately linked with the destinies of millions of people. The "international royal nursery" includes Princess Elizabeth, 9, daughter of the Duke of York, who might some day rule Britain; King Peter of Yugoslavia, 12, who ascended the throne after the assassination of his father;

King Ananda of Siam, 10; Imperial Prince Tsuguno-Miya, 2, heir to Japan's throne; Crown Prince Michael of Rumania, 14, king until his father, Carol II, returned to the throne; Prince Makonnen, 12, son of Ethiopia's emperor; Crown Prince Baudouin and Princess Josephine of the Belgians, whose mother was recently killed in an auto accident.

OFFICER SHOT AT YOUNGSTOWN

Two Gunmen Sought In Shooting On Crowded Public Square

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 29.—Police conducted a widespread search for two gunmen today as physicians fought to save the life of Detective Harry Rowe, who was wounded on crowded Central square late yesterday.

The officer, shot in the stomach, was given a blood transfusion by Patrolman Emory Nichols last night.

Rowe noticed the pair as he alighted from a street car while enroute to report for night police duties. He approached to question them when one of the men stepped up and planned the detective's hands to his sides, the other youth pulled a pistol and fired at Rowe.
The pair escaped in the crowds of the square.

Police said both of the youths had been arrested two years ago in front of a safe in a print shop.
One recently was paroled from Mansfield reformatory, where he served two years for an attempted safe cracking.

Rowe identified pictures of the two from his hospital bed.

U. S. Swings Into Hunt For Slayer
Of Federal Agent

STEBURVILLE, Oct. 29.—United States officers were ready to make use of every facility known to them today as they swung anew into the search for the unknown slayer of L. S. Prevatt, deputy U.
S. marshal.

Numerous conflicting theories complicated the hunt. Illicit liquor warfare, political troubles and the enmity of personal foes were among the motives advanced for the slaying, but U. S. Marshal Kenneth Kerr, in charge of the investigation, said the first, liquor, was the most likely.

Prevatt was shot and killed as he wandered alone in Steburville's "Badlands" district, near the steel mill area.

Kerr, who expressed determination to "crack this case if we have to turn the town upside down," said Prevatt had been engaged in warning and prosecuting liquor law violators since he came here six months ago from North Carolina.

Funds for Schools

The relief office in Columbus today announced the appropriation of $325 for emergency school purposes in Columbus county for the period of Nov. 1 to the 14th.

Two brain troubles are cured in this manner. One is tumors of the skull, both cancerous and benign.
The other is infections of the skull.

Alliance High To Continue Football
Despite Fatality

ALLIANCE, Oct. 29.—Members of Alliance High school's football squad voted unanimously to finish the season's football schedule, despite the fact that school officials had canceled Saturday's game with Barborton because of the death of Peter Zamaltis, 17-year-old tackle on the Alliance team.

Zamaltis died at an Alliance hospital yesterday of injuries received in the game with Massillon Friday.
His coach, Dr. George Wilcoxon and Dr. B. C. Barnard operated Saturday in an attempt to save the youth's life.

Dr. Wilcoxon said tonight that parents of some of the players had told them that they hoped the team would not finish out the season.

"I hope this stand will not be come crystallized among the parents," Dr. Wilcoxon said. "Because we believe the affect on the players if the remaining games were canceled would be worse than if they were played."

The squad voted to play a benefit game for the youth's parents at its meeting this afternoon.

His death boosted Ohio's football death toll to four for the 1935 season.

Triem Camp Group
At East Palestine

A group of eight members of Philip Triem camp No. 43, Sons of Union Veterans and ten members of the auxiliary were in East Palestine last night assisting in the organization of an auxiliary for the camp there.

The work at the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Edith Nile of Alliance, department organizer for the Sons of Union Veterans auxiliary.
She was assisted by four Salem auxiliary members, Mrs. Harold Bath as pianist, who played an arrangement of patriotic airs; Mrs.
George Votaw as chairman; Mrs.
Leona Hoopes as junior vice commander; Mrs. J. E. Bentley and Mrs. Paul Probert as color guards.

Fourteen members were taken into the new group. Election and installation of officers were held, the installation being in charge of Mrs. Estella Owen of Mt. Clarion, Pa., national president of the auxiliary who is working with the auxiliaries in this section of the state.

Mrs. Anne Lockyer of Youngstown, state president of the auxiliary, assisted in the work last night. The guests included Henry F. Russell of Alliance, state department commander of the G. A. R., who made a short talk; A. E. Hess of Alliance, past Ohio division commander, who presented the new group with a Bible. Besides the officers there were members of the camps and auxiliaries of Youngstown, Alliance, Salem and East Palestine who attended.

Mrs. Estella Owen of Mt. Clarion, Pa., national president of the auxiliary, will be a guest Thursday evening at the regular meeting of the Salem auxiliary in the G. A. R.

Makes Opera Debut

Mrs. Gerald V. Ellis, Lisbon soprano whose voice already has brought the praise of critics, will make her grand opera debut Thursday night in Cleveland where she will appear in two roles in the chorus of the German opera, "Rosen-Caveller."

The opera is being produced by the Cleveland Symphony Opera company, starring Lottie Lehman of Metropolitan Opera fame.
Mrs. Ellis has been studying and training in Cleveland.

Tension Grips Coal Fields In Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 29.— Tension gripped the strife-torn Alabama coal fields today as authorities pressed an inquiry into the slaying of one union miner and the wounding of six in a burst of gunfire on a mountain highway.

SAVING SOMETHING

Ethiopian strategists apparently have taken the device of the preponderant majority of military experts, including millions who never saw a battle, inviting way before the superior power of Italy's invading armies. The theory is simple and obvious, and perhaps it's even good. By retreating, the Ethiopians embarrass the Italians more than they aid by fighting. The invasion is a problem in organizing supply lines and finding water than it is a problem of combat. The superiority of the Italian army in equipment and training is unquestioned.
There has been no important engagement as yet, between important armies of the combatants. The Ethiopians have been resisting moderately and falling back. The Italians have been following up their advantages slowly, waiting for engineers to build roads. The war has been going on for three weeks, but despite the steady Ethiopian retreat Italy's invasion is estimated in terms of a few miles. Yet, it is evident, according to dispatches from correspondents, that Italy is in grave danger.
If it is reported, is preparing to join the sue. It is getting ready to take a stand and fight.
That is the outlook as the war approaches the end of its first month's duration. It is recalled in connection with the time element that many observers believed Premier Mussolini would be ready to abandon the war by Christmas. The impending tactical battle of course, will not be the last, because armies of both countries are divided. Perhaps Christmas there will have been three or four clashes. The nature of the war is going to advance to a problem in extermination. The Italians, unnumbered, are better equipped from a material point of view. But the Ethiopians natural fighters and customed to the terrain, still are a good bet to take a creditable showing in defense of their country.

A NEW CONCEPT

There's nothing new under the sun, but occasionally things have an appearance of newness, due to me marked difference in their form. There is, for stance, a seemingly new concept of government work in the modern world.
It is a concept in which the state has been elevated to an almost mystic plane. Instead of being merely structure of fallible men and questionable policies aid together by the tolerance of the persons it verns, the government of the new concept has come fountain head of infallibility and inspired crtine.
In such a state, worship takes the place of that actial patriotism which is the reasonable man's ly of showing his support for the organization he lps to support. The state is held in reverence. It the ultimate end of life's activity. It can do no ong. It tolerates no questioning.
Obviously, a concept that demands blind obedience government on a basis of worship rather than ason cannot flourish everywhere. It requires a gree of submission which American and British opies, for instance, would find distasteful and
ly. Yet, it reports from abroad may be trusted, rmans, Russians and Italians, in varying degrees, are able to submerge their individualities in the at unity of the state—"the totalitarian state," as e phrase makers call it. In Asia, Japanese submission to the state seems to have approached the ne level of religious fervor.
No imagination is required to visualize the possibilities for evil when the state controls everything d when a few men, fallible like those they con-rol, are permitted to control the state. Every eulation on the possibility of war, significantly, talls one or more of the totalitarian states—Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan. Freedom—the right individuals to express themselves independently of e masses of which they are a part—is being challenged by a concept of government in which free-m cannot survive.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—When Ras Desta Demtu, a-in-law of Haile Selassie, the Ethiopian emperor, as in the metropolis last year, he stopped at the St. ritz. Arriving around 11 o'clock from Washington, had an entourage of five—secretary, advisor, companion and two bodyguards. He never smiled.
Shortly after installed in his terrace suite he oned the management he would like a local policeman to spend the night in a chair outside his sleeping quarters. A quick call to headquarters brought sturdy, uniformed Irishman to carry out the request.
He visited Radio City, the N. B. C. studios, the Empire State building and Washington bridge. He sisted always on walking if the distances were not great. His advisor at his side and a bodyguard in front and aft. He never passed a beggar without giving alms.
Broadway lights particularly fascinated him. All the wives of press agency were employed to lure him to a night club, but he turned a deaf ear. His tips on departing were fair, but not extravagant. Employees recalled him as a thoughtful, kindly and gentle man.

The literary world hears that Ernest Booth, discovered while serving a life term in California by H. L. Mencken is, under a changed law, to receive his freedom in four years, having served eleven. A ban on prison writing since 1928 has also been lifted, provided it does not deal with crime or prisons. During his long travail, Booth, one-time burglar, has devoted his available hours from rockbreaking in a historical research of Byzantine literature, and is an authority. So much so he has completed a novelized version of the rise of Justinian's mistress, from a mimic to the exalted position of empress. He has also achieved economic security for a devoted wife by writing for Hollywood.

A rendezvous of backgammon addicts is an intimately congenial boite known as Dimitri's, in a tumbling twist of Greenwich Village. Dimitri, an Egyptian, is an expert, and among his occasional opponents is Mabardi, recognized as one of the foremost authorities on the game. Among other adepts are Baron Wrangel, society scribbler, Courtney Burr, Ralph Owen, Prince Serge Obolensky, and Maurice Hecksher.

Backgammon, like mah-jong, was one of the short-lived fancies of the boom. But unlike mah-jong—are any mah-jongists left?—there are a number of enthusiasts who will quit bridge, bad-minton or ping-pong for backgammon. Someone tells me the revival began on the Riviera the summer of 1927. Alexander Woollcott, also a croquet addict, is said to have given it impetus. Still another says the furore was really started by Elsa Maxwell.

The passing of DeWolf Hopper removed one of the popular members of the Lambs. When in New York most of his leisure was spent there and during his last years lunched almost daily at the Gene Buck table.
"Hoppy" had the troupers' contempt for late hours.
He loved night, a cheery corner of a grill, and good fellowship, although temperate. At 77, when most men are thinking of the pipe and comfortable chair, he was busy as a bee. When the stage was shot from under him, he turned to the radio with all the enthusiasm of a school boy. And clicked.

I had a brief note from Hopper, written in a Kansas City hotel about 10 days before his exit. It was in a firm, distinct hand, without the usual chirographic tremolo that so often comes with years.
He had, on a brief motor ride passed through the Missouri town where I was born, lunched at a hotel my father built and thought I might like news of familiar scenes. Such touches of graciousness made him as popular away from the footlights as before them.

One of the fantastic figures of the flashier Broadway is Nick the Greek. A sleek and flavescent Valentino type, reputedly surmounted by most expensive tailors and haberdashers. One day winning and the next losing huge fortunes on the turn of a card or toss of the dice. Yet there are many of the gambling fraternity who will swear they never saw him wager more than a $50 bill.

Postcard: "You with your spats sighing to play an accordion."
Well, it's more manly than zither-picking, anyway.

Personal nomination for the most expertly typed man-about-town—William Rhineland Stewart.

New pipes for heating the machine shop at the plant of the Silver Manufacturing company were installed Saturday and on Monday will be put into use.

While it is expected that some day an electric line will be in operation between Salem and Lisbon, the date of its completion is remote and indefinite. It has been suggested that a motor bus line would give almost as good service and those who have investigated the matter of establishing such a line believe that it would prove popular.

M. W. Bensen and wife, who moved from this vic-

THE STARS SAY

For Wednesday, October 30

According to the planetary configurations ruling this day there may be doubts and difficulties of a rather suspicious nature. It would be well to keep a wary eye on dealings with rings, mergers or secret societies.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may meet a year with some advancement or favors in employment, but they are urged to be alert to trickery or secret enmity in connection with mergers, combines or secret societies. There may be the illness of a friend also to cause some anxiety.

A child born on this day may be talented, witty and may encounter many favors from his employers and other friends.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Healthful Lunch WHILE DRIVING through the country a few weeks ago, I passed the old red brick school house that

Dr. Copeland

my parents attended. Along the road came many children of varying ages, all carrying lunch boxes.
My curiosity was aroused and I wondered just how many of these boxes contained real substantial food, so vital to the growing child. The kind of lunch the child carries to school is of a paramount importance, particularly if hot dishes are not served at the noon hour.

Many important academic problems arise in connection with school life. The problem of providing the proper lunch for the school child is just exactly as important. Progress in school is dependent upon the physical health of the child. If this is true, why not give thought to the kind of a lunch that will enable the child to keep fit and mentally alert?

Some of the schools today provide one or two hot dishes to supplement the box lunch. The child brings from home. If facilities for serving a hot luncheon are not available, it is well to include a hot beverage, such as soup, or chocolate, in the child's box lunch. This is easily prepared and kept hot in a thermos bottle.

Make It Attractive

Keep in mind that when the lunch box is too hastily packed the contents may not have an attractive appearance. Often the underlying cause of faulty appetite, poor eating habits and subsequent loss of weight can be attributed to careless choice and preparation of materials.

The lunch box should be kept clean and should be easy to carry.
Make sure the utensils are clean and adequate. The plenty of wax paper to preserve the freshness of the food. Use colorful napkins and trim the box so that the child will be pleased with his luncheon. This acts as a stimulant to the appetite and an aid to digestion as well.

What type of food to choose depends upon the age of the child. A six-year-old youngster may have a sandwich made of chicken minced ham, fish, egg, bacon or peanut butter. A raw fruit or vegetable should be included. You may choose from oranges, bananas, apples, grapes, plums, peaches, pears, tomatoes and celery.

Answers to Health Queries

Miss B. C. Q.—What causes "cold sores" and what can be done to overcome the trouble? I have been troubled with this condition for over a year. The sores resemble large blisters and lasting for about ten days.

A—This disturbance is usually due to hyperacidity. Watch your diet restricting the sugars and starches.
Drink more water between meals and keep the intestinal tract clear.
For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A. P. Q.—I have what seems to be neuritis. It is in my shoulders and arms and is very painful. What would you advise?

A—First of all it is most essential to determine the underlying cause of the trouble. For full particulars restate your question and send a self addressed, stamped envelope.

Awarded Roosevelt Medal at 72

Dr. William Hallock Park

Recent award of the Roosevelt medal for 1935 to Dr. William H.
Park, head of the New York health department laboratories, climaxes a life-long career devoted to fighting infectious diseases. Dr. Park is credited with perfecting a toxin against infantile paralysis which was used effectively this year to check ravages of the disease. At 72 he continues his experiments in the soot-covered buildings near the East river where he has labored for years. His fame is world-wide and today he is considered one of the most eminent living authorities on bacteriology.

OPPOSES BOND ISSUE

Editor, The News:

The Saturday Evening Post of October 19 carried an editorial entitled, "The Hook in the Bait" which speaks our mind regarding some of the reasons why we should defeat the bond issue for a new city hall.

It tells that Houston, Texas, the home of Jesse Jones of the R. F. C. turned down seven out of eight bond issues. The one that carried was for a charitable institution.
Those favoring it used the same "bait" we have been hearing here.
"If we fail to vote these bonds to take advantage of this opportunity, these gifts and grants, from the federal government, we will deprive ourselves of something that belongs to us."

The tax payers association of that city, said in part, "That neither Houston nor any other place can afford to pile debt upon debt, and interest charge upon interest charge. Why collect more, if asked, "discussing the pleasure of having nice things and the need of other things? Both points are granted.
But when we cannot afford to buy for cash, how can we afford to buy on credit?"

"Despite all the alluring offerings of federal 'gifts' and grants by Mr.
Jones, Mr. Ickes, Mr. Hopkins, and other dispensing moguls of the new deal, no one yet even attempted to reply to this very simple question asked by the Houston taxpayers' association. Every city, county, and state bond is an additional mortgage upon every piece of property in city, county or state.

The wholesale defeat of local bond issues often postpones desirable or even necessary improvements. But there is no economic or social salvation in continually piling up debt. It is merely the seemingly easy, fallacious and thoughtless way to put off rather than solve one's problems, and apparently voters are beginning to sense this fact."

Do you know that Steubenville, Ohio, with over three times the population of Salem, has about the same amount of debt.

At the close of 1934 Salem's city debt was $674,513.58 and her school bond indebtedness was $215,000.00.
That means a per capita debt of $83.79. Can you pay your share?
Some of us will not be able to meet our share! Why issue more bonds we cannot pay for?

We hope to have some more interesting facts to present.

by LOUISE LONG AND ETHEL DOHERTY

SYNOPSIS

Five days before his marriage, a date, society prominent Sharlene Manning, a former love, Kent Damerell, millionaire sportsman, is called to the deathbed of his fiancée. Kent tries in vain to suppress the newspaper stories. He then telephones Sharlene. Her mother takes the message. Though it is a terrific blow, Sharlene takes the news stoically. To offset the publicity of her fiancé's death, she asks her best friend, Stuart Pennington, to marry her. Though it is the realization of his dream, Stuart knows her proposal is a mere reaction to hurt and that she will suffer when the shock of Kent's apparent death wears off. Stuart must be careful then, lest she hate him more than Kent. Finally, in Yuma, Arizona, for the ceremony Stuart wonders if it would be wiser for Sharlene to wait until Damerell were dead. She insists on going through with the marriage. After the ceremony the young couple fly to the Grand Canyon. Julie Devore, Stuart's model, who loves the young artist, is stunned at the news of his marriage. She goes to Mrs. Standing and tells her she was engaged to Stuart. Lucien Morrow, the motion picture director and friend of Stuart, enters on the scene. Julie admits she was wrong in involving Stuart when the diplomatic Lucien offers to star her in a picture. Speaking of Kent, Sharlene asks Stuart, "Why would I have been made to suffer?"

CHAPTER XVII

"Look here, Sharlene. I know it's harder for those whom the world calls 'lucky'—when trouble comes. It's much easier for us who grow up with Good Friday mixing in with Easter all the way along. We get more—more calloused to suffering. And we kid ourselves that another Eastern is just around the corner. But it's bad for you—you haven't had to develop any armour like that."

"No, I haven't. I'm totally unprepared for—Gethsemane. But you, Stuart—You've had Good Friday all of your life, haven't you? And are you—"

"But I've been getting my Easter the last five years—since I've known you. I'm getting some satisfaction out of my painting—and now having you—"

"No," she said, her eyes filling with tears. "You're just getting more Good Friday—having me!"

"That's not true, dear. This is a bad time for you. I just want to stand by and help. I only hope I don't go to sleep in the garden when I want so much to watch with you!" He smiled whimsically at her and lit another cigarette.

She was looking at him keenly. "You would give you a grand time listening, Stuart. I want to live a perfectly normal married life with you—"

"Of course, dear. But I'd rather come to me—with love.... I want you. You are going to love me one day, you know, better than anyone else!" He said it with a conviction he did not all feel.

Sharlene smiled absently at him, and her eyes sought the far horizon. The East they were leaving behind them. She forgot all about Stuart's confident assumption of her love to come, as her mind followed the weary old treadmill.

"I wonder what Kent thinks? He hasn't had a word from me; he's had to get it all from the papers since then. But it hadn't seemed to help any so he had let the stuff alone this morning, enduring the nauseous aftermath."

Kent was striding up and down the disordered room in his dressing-gown, unshaven, haggard. The floor was strewn with old newspapers and Sharlene's face smiled up at him from every one of them. He was even guilty of grinding his heel on Stuart Pennington's picture as he paced over the crackling sheets.

Leigh came in from outdoors in time to answer the telephone in the living room.

"Hello.... What? Yes.... We'll be right up." He replaced the receiver and rushed over to Kent's door. "Good! You're not blotto," he said cheerfully. "The doctor wants you up at the hospital right away. Cora must be worse."

"She would die—when it's too late," observed Kent as he began to dress rapidly.

Cora was weeping bitterly when the Damerell brothers arrived. The doctor and nurse were both bending over her, but the physician straightened up and came toward Kent.

"She's just a little hysterical, because of the good news. I've been telling her, I congratulate you, Mr. Damerell. Your wife is going to live—"

"Oh!" ejaculated Kent as if in pain. Then to the doctor's inquiring look he managed to muster a lame, "That's nice—that's nice."

He went over to the bed and looked down at the weeping woman. She uncovered her face and he saw stark tragedy there. She pulled him down close to her mouth, and whispered feverishly:

"I—I can't bear it! I didn't want to do this to you!"

"It doesn't matter—now—"

"I think," the physician was saying pleasantly, "you'd better take her to the seashore soon, Mr. Damerell. It will hasten her recovery."

"Oh yes, quite so—we'll do that," said Kent, not caring. And Cora, looking at him through her tears, knew that he did not care. His gaze had strayed absently to the window in time West.

Leigh was getting all the instructions from the doctor. He called across to his brother:

"Spar Harbor, eh, Kent? We'll be in time for the yacht races there. Not too late to enter the 'Flying Ace,' you know."

Kent turned with the first show of interest he had displayed for days.

They took Cora to Spar Harbor the day the "Malibu" rounded Diamond Head.

Stuart had risen with the dawn to watch the Liliad boom out of the midst, and had stayed to marvel at the gigantic cloud forms over jagged peaks. Sharlene joined him on the deck, as Waikiki came in sight. She pointed out the pink facade of the largest Hawaiian hotel in its spot of green.

"That's where we were going to stay," she told him gaily.

The familiar question of how he could possibly afford to live there rose in his mind. Then he laughed shortly—he had forgotten that he had a rich wife to foot the bill.

"What made you laugh?" she asked.

"O—the pink facade. I think."

"It does look like cake from here. But it's a grand place to stay—and right next to the Outrigger Club. We'll be in the water most of the time, when we aren't dancing. Fun, eh? Aren't you thrilled, Stuart?"

"Just all a-quiver," he grinned at her.

Sharlene glanced away quickly, lest he divine her frightful unrest. She knew he had been mistakenly lulled by her outward quiescence since Tuesday. She had slept a lot in a healthy reaction to days and nights of misery, and it had relieved his mind. He did not comprehend the pent-up state of her nerves as she stood beside him and made saucy comments on everything.

As they moved up the inner

"Listen, Stuart, I want to live a perfectly normal married life with you—" ment of landing. It was dreary in her stateroom, hot and stifling, the bed unmade, discarded flowers in the basket.

Sharlene threw herself full length on the bed and cried with the despairing abandon of a child, unable to stop. It was the first time in her life she had ever wept this way.

"You've repressed yourself too much," said Stuart, patting her shoulder helplessly. "You've been afraid of hurting me. I'd rather have you cry it out."

After a while she sat up. "This is too awful! You're missing all the color—it's so much fun to land in Honolulu. I'm just a beast!"

He protested sincerely: "You're a real good sport—"

"Oh!" she cried, as if he had struck her. "Don't say that!"

He realized with horror that he had used Kent Damerell's favorite expression.

The sounds of music and the clamor of glad welcome died away on the pier, while Sharlene made herself presentable. When they finally disembarked even the lei women had departed. Katie waited anxiously beside the bags. In depressing silence they made their way to the curb where Stuart hailed a couple of taxis to take them out to the hotel.

"This is the last time I'll do that," Stuart said Sharlene, as she sank back in the cab. "If I can't summon courage enough to meet my God Friday like—like you've met yours—then you can dump me off at the end of the pier!"

"There'll be no dumping." He pressed her hand hard. "Let me get you some of those wreaths. Hey, boy, stop a minute!"

He bought sweet smelling ginger leis, and delicate little pikake ones heavy, fragrant ropes of camellias and carnations, and piled them around Sharlene's neck to the tip of her charming nose.

Above the flowers her eyes were smiling again, and Stuart was content.

Would Hike Tariff To Protect Work

COLUMBUS, Oct. 28—Alexander Thompson, president of the Ohio chamber of commerce, said today that tariffs should be raised rather than lowered, as he said was contemplated by Secretaries Hull and Wallace.

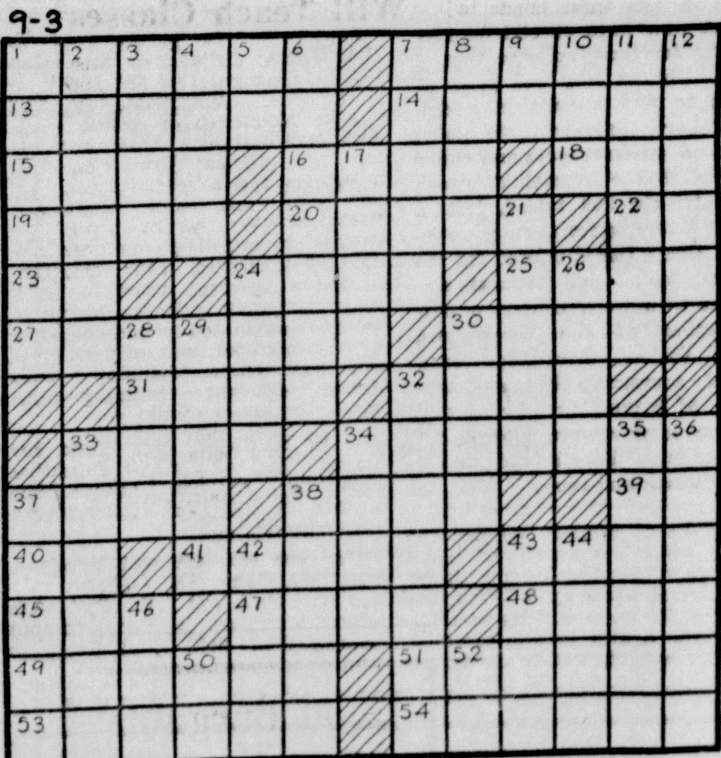

He said the American working man out of a job and on relief receives more for not working than the laborer in any other country working full time.

He predicted a disruption of "this happy state of affairs" if tariffs are lowered.

BERLIN, Wis. — Irene Sedarski, who has a contract but no pupils, receives a $75 check monthly as teacher of Riverside school, north of here. Seven children living in the district attend school in Berlin.

Theater Attractions

Gertrude Michael and Claude Rains as they appear in "The Last Outpost," showing at the State tonight and tomorrow.

Two feature pictures, one a musical entitled "Here's To Romance," starring Nino Martini, the Metropolitan opera star, and the other, "The Last Outpost," with Claude Rains and Cary Grant in the leading roles make up the bill at the State theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

"The Last Outpost" is the story of two men stationed in the region of Mesopotamia during the World War. It is a British officer, Rains, a secret service agent, Grant unknowingly falls in love with Rains' wife while he is in a hospital in Cairo, where she is a nurse.

Rains, learning of Grant's love for his wife, resolves to track him down and kill him. He meets him in a deserted fort in the interior and there Rains decides whether he should leave his one time friend to the mercy of the natives or to diet in a seething forest fire, to avenge the memory of his wife.

Kathleen Burke and Colin Tapley support the other stars.

Nino Martini, handsome singing star of the operatic stage and radio brings a beautiful voice and a new face to the screen in "Here's to Romance." Opposite Martini are Genevieve Tobin and Anita Louise.

The story of "Here's to Romance" is one of those tales about artists, their light-hearted bohemian life and the complications of love that are only straightened out in the picture when Martini wins Miss Louise.

Martini sings arias from "Tosca."

"Mahon," "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci"

In 1931 Martini came to America having been quite successful on operatic tours of Europe. He secured an opportunity with the Philadelphia Opera company shortly after he began his radio engagement with Columbia Broadcasting company and his popularity was sensational. Within a year he had made his debut with the Metropolitan Opera company. With "Here's to Romance" he enters a new field, motion pictures.

DOCTORS KNOW

Mothers read this:

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch?

The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that can form no habit, even in children. So, try Syrup Pepsin. You just take regulated doses till Nature restores regularity.

Miss Sara Steel and Ralph Rose Are Married in Lisbon

Announcement was made last evening at a delightful dinner-bridge given by Miss Jane Vozan of Lisbon of the marriage Saturday of Miss Sara Steel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Steele of Lisbon to Ralph Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rose of Lisbon.

The wedding was solemnized at 3:30 Saturday afternoon in the parish house of the Presbyterian church in Lisbon, Rev. J. Morgan Cox officiating at the ceremony.

Miss Vozan and Alphonse Arter, both of Lisbon were attendants. Miss Steele wore a charming suit of brown crepe and chartreuse blouse with brown accessories. Miss Vozan wore a gown of dark green with brown accessories.

After the ceremony the couple left on a short weekend wedding trip, returning to the home of the bride's parents on North Market st., where they are at home to friends.

Both young people are graduates of the Lisbon High school and Mr. Rose is employed by the Ohio Edison Co. in Lisbon.

Lydia Bible Class Is Entertained

Mrs. John Lingelbaugh was hostess to associates of the Lydia Bible class of the English Lutheran church last night at her home on Euclid st. Mrs. C. W. Davidson, Mrs. Lorin Beck and Mrs. James Hinkle were associate hostesses.

Thirty members attended the meeting at which Mrs. Ed. Hoch was leader. Her subject was, "The World Program of the United Lutheran Church."

After the meeting games and an informal social time were enjoyed. The hostesses served refreshments, with appointments in keeping with the Halloween season.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Elmer Johnson on East Fourth st. next month.

Meadow Brook Community club members will have a party Friday evening at the Meadow Brook school house. The affair will be a masquerade and the public is invited to attend.

Today's Pattern

VERSATILE JUMPER

Pattern 2404

Aside from the fact that a "halter" neckline is just about the latest in chic, this jumper dress looks at life from a practical standpoint as well. It gives one's wardrobe a greater versatility for with two pieces, separate blouse and jumper, there are endless combinations possible. Secured by a snug collar-band and perky bow tie, it has the daring low cut of a bathing suit, showing off to advantage the back of a lustrous satin or soft silk blouse. Deep darts assure a perfect fit through the waist in back. Let's say you make it in wool crepe, or serge to contrast with the blouse.

Pattern 2404 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 2 1/2 yards 54 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards 39 inch contrasting fabric for blouse. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Order your fall and winter edition of Anne Adams pattern book! You'll be thrilled with the smart designs it pictures—cloths for all occasions—for all your family. Adorable, easy-to-make Christmas gifts, too. And helpful advice on being the charming, perfectly-groomed woman. A book you'll love and consult frequently—all seasons! Price of book 15 cents. Book and pattern together, 25 cents.

Suits for Autumn Wear

These models denote smartness and warmth

BY MARIE MAROT

THE THREE-PIECE suit, once a novelty, now finds a welcome place in almost every wardrobe. The topcoat worn over the trig suit is often of contrasting color, and very often is handsomely furled. The wise shopper will select a suit of fine fabric without fur, rather than a suit of shoddy tweed trimmed with inferior fur. Many shops now have special departments for these suits so that it should be an easy and pleasant task to find a suitable model. Here are three suits to guide you. A muskrat stole and collar embellish the topcoat of green and tan-checked tweed, left, a splendid outfit for town or country. Green tweed is used for the dress, jacket and topcoat colored with wolf, center, a new variation of the three-piece. The furless three-piece suit, right, comprises skirt and topcoat of herringbone tweed and maize color angora blouse. All the suits are light in weight, yet very warm and snug.

and a half, basting occasionally. About quarter of an hour before serving, sprinkle salt and pepper over it and bake again. The veal is as tender and delicious as chicken and is a dish that is especially nice for children and convalescents.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeanette Young Norton

HERE'S ANOTHER grab bag of recipes, all of which are in answer to requests received by this department of late. We hope that they will please our readers even if you were not just looking out for these dishes.

Many requests have been received for a glorified hamburger recipe, a sort of deluxe hamburger. So here we give you an excellent dish, hamburger on brochette.

Put quarter of a pound of bacon through the food chopper. Add one pound fresh ground round steak. Wash 12 large mushrooms. Chop stems and add to meat. Shape the meat into cakes. Place one mushroom on a metal skewer. Add a meat cake, then another mushroom, followed by a meat cake, finishing up with mushrooms. Broil for 15 minutes, turning occasionally. It serves four.

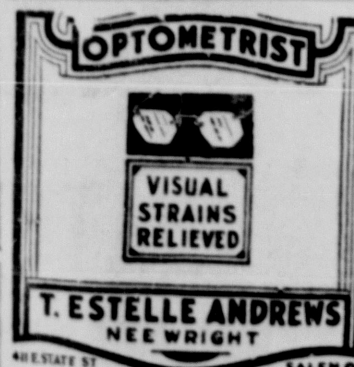

For those looking for something different in the line of salads, we recommend a salad made with lima beans. Mix two cups of lima beans (using canned or carefully-cooked dried ones), one cup diced celery, one tablespoon minced onion and two tablespoons minced green pepper. Pour on French dressing and arrange on crisp lettuce. Garnish with two tablespoons grated cheese, selecting a bright, yellow cheese if possible. Serve mere dressing in a separate sauce boat.

Celery Victor Recipe

For those who enjoy cooking, and don't mind taking plenty of time over a dish, we offer celery victor, a real chef's dish. Wash one bunch of celery and remove top leaves, but leave bunch whole. Place the celery in a casserole and add onion, carrot, whole black peppercorn, bay leaf, whole clove, salt and pepper. Juice of one lemon, four tablespoons olive oil and two cups of water or chicken stock. Cover the casserole and cook in oven for two hours. Remove when done and allow to cool. Strain the liquid in which the celery was cooked, and add one tablespoon white wine vinegar and one crushed black pepper. Mix these through the liquid pour over celery and serve as a salad. Celery victor may also be served with anchovies and crab legs, to make a truly de luxe dish.

Now we'll wind up with a nice desert recipe, loganberry delight. Put one can of loganberries in a saucepan. Stir in half cup of sugar mixed with two tablespoons cornstarch. Cook over hot water until the juice is thick and transparent. Pour into individual glasses. Serve cold with cream. It serves six.

Music Study Club Is Entertained

Miss Hilda Franke entertained members of the Salem Music Study club Monday afternoon at her home on the Goshen rd., at which time members presented a delightful program of music.

Miss Anna Cook, who had charge of the program, gave two chapters of the study book "Twentieth Century Music," by Marion Bauer. The chapters were, "Looking Backward" and "The Beginning of Modern Era."

Mrs. Paul Covert played two piano numbers, Prelude XXI from Well Tempered Clavier and the 14th Invention from the Two-part invention, both numbers written by B. ch. Mrs. L. D. Cesna entertained with the vocal arrangement by Gluck, "Che Faro Senza Euridice." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. F. Hunt.

Mrs. Ellis Satterthwaite played a violin solo, "Gavotte" by Corelli, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. F. Hunt. A piano selection from "Suite" by Francis Poulenc was offered by Mrs. P. H. Beaver of Leetonia.

The next meeting of the club will be in two weeks at the Valley Links Golf club at which time members will be entertained by Mrs. F. C. Griffin of Columbiana.

Columbus Is Just Plain Nutty As It Awaits 'Big Game'

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—When the fighting Irish arrive on the banks of the Olentangy Saturday to meet the Scarlet Scourage of Ohio State, they'll find themselves in an utterly mad city.
The town's sanity is nearing the breaking point already and the Ohio State-Notre Dame game is still four and a half days off.

Here are some authentic observations:
The weather bureau, taking a cue from Lloyds of London, will quote odds of three to one against rain, but it will back its prediction with no government money.

Buckeye Coach Francis A. Schmidt is locking up the stadium like a miser's treasure box as he drills his crew.

On the street corners, you're either "with us or against us." You can't say, "I'm really not interested in football."

And you're numbered among the quick or the dead according to your ability to flee from the scene of any disparaging comment on the Buckeyes.

Walter Pitkin, the psychologist famed for his "Life Begins At 40" theory, was in a debate here the other night. They say that an Ohio State rooster asked him if he was referring to the 40 yard line.

Then there's the unverified report—strictly unverified—that police—but never mind. You'd never believe it. It's too completely, indefensibly, incomprehensibly nutty.

Balanced National Budget In '38 Seen

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—A balanced national budget for 1938 was foreseen today by Rexford Tugwell, under secretary of agriculture.
Tugwell said he arrived at his prophecy by "estimating receipts for the treasury on the basis of present rates on taxation, but taking into account the fact that they are to be applied to a national income which has increased, by now, about one-third since March of 1933."

Barring war or catastrophe, he said in an address here last night, the national debt should show an actual net increase of only about three billions of dollars, by the end of the fiscal year of 1938.

Caliban's Ariel Seeks to Forget

Elaine Barrie, the "Ariel" half of the "great romance" with John "Caliban" Barrymore, is shown with Eric Kaulhurst, leading man, in a scene from the current Boston play in which she took a part "to forget her heartbreak."

Today

A Review of the Day's News
—By Arthur Brisbane—

BIG NEW YORK is interested in gangster overlord, killing, proving the "justice" of the gang more efficient than that of the courts.

One man, Stein, or Stern, 21, said by police to be a "killer" by profession, was credited with from eight to eleven killings, and has added one, killing himself.

Fear drove him to suicide, police say, and he died poor, almost penniless. Toward the last, he had murdered, taking his pay in drugs, to which he was enslaved. A good moving picture scenario in his case.

AMONG EFFECTS left by "Dutch Schulz" Plegenheimer, recently murdered, are found papers showing that he carried on his payroll important New York politicians and policemen. He could afford to pay well, for police say he "banked" as much as $2,000,000 in one year.

Some politicians and policemen are not sleeping well at present for New York's Mayor, LaGuardia, and his police commissioner, Valentine, are not men to cover up any Dutch Schultz revelations.

Pleasant "civilization!" The people hire politicians, they work for gangsters and gangsters rule.

COL. HUBERT JULIAN, colored flier of Harlem, New York, City, now in Ethiopia, wearing a gold braided uniform, tells the Associated Press:

"I have trained five thousand Ethiopian fighters, shock troops. I put fire and the devil in them. Under my special training, anyone of them can stand up against six Italians."

The Colonel knows, says he. "I know just how to fight the Fascists, because I knocked out a lot of them, in Harlem, with just my fists."

This will surprise some Italians, for one against six seems long odds, but the question is, could Col. Hubert's one Ethiopian, with "fire and the devil" in him, stand up against six Italian tanks, or six Italian air bombs?

LIGHT IS thrown on living conditions in Addis Ababa, principal city of Ethiopia, by this short dispatch, also Associated Press:

"Near panic was caused in the center of the capital today when a pack of hyenas, after devouring a huge dog, started to attack a child."

Many Ethiopian tribesmen believe that the hyena is a magician. They will not touch even a hyena skin, until a native priest has exorcised the magic out of it.

ITALY, in penetrating Ethiopia, follows a trail through Senafe and Adigrat marked out by the British in 1898, when Lord Napier led a punitive expedition, wiped out the army of the Abyssinian emperor who committed suicide (his name was Theodore), and retired with interesting souvenirs, including an ancient manuscript describing the visit of Queen Magda of Sheba, of Abyssinia, to King Solomon, telling how Solomon happened to become the ancestor of all the Ethiopian emperors, including Haile Selassie.

Mr. Chertok goes ahead with his great "concession and development plan in Ethiopia." It was said that Standard Oil was backing Mr. Chertok. International and home indignation exploded. Europe said:

"How could you? Have you Yankers no respect for anything?"

Our government, which takes pride in not orders from Europe, said:

"Naughty, naughty. Standard Oil: you must not do that. You might complicate your dear fatherland."

And Standard Oil, innocent as the babe unborn, said:

Italian Tanks Lead Advance

Primitive defense weapons of Ethiopian forces proved of little avail against these Italian tanks, shown as they led the advance of invading troops into the Ethiopian interior after the fall of the holy city of Aksum.

"I never thought of such a thing, or if I did, I give it up."

NOW MR. CHERTOK will go right ahead. He will pay Ethiopia's Emperor $1,250,000 now, on account, the balance of $10,000,000 later, when profits begin coming in.

ALL THE MONEY WILL BE BRITISH MONEY, and all except Mr. Chertok's share of profits will go to British investors.

That changes the whole thing, naturally, makes it a normal, proper international business enterprise and Mr. Chertok is happy.

He has a concession to exploit 15,000 square miles of "the richest gold, silver and platinum lands in the world." Natives, says he, bring great quantities of rich gold ore from the Walega county.

On Account of the Death of William Henry Cook I Am Authorized To Sell His Farm

Farm contains 78 acres and is located just at the edge of the city limits on Goshen Ave. This farm could have been sold several times but the two Cook Brothers made it their home and for that reason, refused to accept any price for it. I might say that about three years ago, I was offered $16,000 for it. Now this farm will not show up as it should for the reason it has not been farmed for the past 12 to 15 years. There has never been a sale held on this farm and the ground has never been robbed. It is naturally good sandy loam soil. I can vouch for this as it is directly across from my home farm and if you will look at the crops produced on it, it will prove to you that this land is just as good. It is improved with a first-class antique brick house of eight rooms with a center hall which gives you twin parlors with nice large fireplaces. The house itself is very substantial. Barn is fair, a few minor repairs would put it in good shape. There is also a wonderful locust grove which will furnish posts for the farm for a generation. Large catalpa grove. Abundance of good water. A lot of good fruit. Keep in mind it is a wonderful location and could be made one of the finest homes in the eastern part of Ohio and we are now offering it at the low price of $6,000. For more particulars, see—

WILL TRADE ON CITY PROPERTY

Fine 20-acre farm located on hard road only two miles from Salem. Good seven room house with electricity and furnace heat. Large garage and tool house. Yankee barn about 30 by 40. All buildings in good condition. About two acres fruit of all kinds. Balance of farm could all be cultivated. This would make an ideal truck farm for some one. Owner will consider exchange on city property in good location. For further information, see—

New Deal Blunders Cited by Johnson

CLEVELAND, Oct. 29. — Gen. Hugh S. Johnson told an audience here last night, in response to a question, that government expenditures would bring "printing press money" within a year unless curtailed soon.

Johnson attacked "blunders" of the new deal and called for the re-election of President Roosevelt in his address before the Temple Men's club lecture series.

To a questioner who said that the British debt per capita was larger than that in the United States Johnson said: "Yes, but that's no reason to go on piling up ours until it topples over."

"You'll have printing press money within a year if you have to keep up the present government expenditures."

A Matter of Scales-Operatic and Otherwise

On a diet though already down to 130 pounds, Marion Talley is shown (top, left), as she waits film role in Hollywood. Below she appears as the buxom Kansas farm girl at the time of her Metropolitan debut. But voice alone cannot win an opera star a film role. Beauty of form as demonstrated by Lily Pons (top), Grace Moore (below) and Gladys Swarthout (right), are necessary. And so Miss Talley continues to shed avoirdupois in hopes of following these other songbirds to screen success.

Mistake Fatal

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—A mother of two, who told police she unwittingly put insect powder instead of baking powder into a biscuit dough, died today.

DEATHS

MISS MILDRED KANE
Miss Mildred Kane, 55, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. W. Simpson at 4 this morning. Miss Kane had been an invalid for a number of years.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kane of Wooster, both of whom died some years ago. She was a member of the First Baptist church at Wooster. She is survived by her sister and three nieces, with whom she made her home; one brother, Charles Kane of Altoona, Pa.; a half-brother, Wayne W. Putnam of Warren, Pa.; and her stepfather, J. B. Putnam of Columbus.

Funeral service will be held at the home of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Simpson at 837 Franklin st., at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. A. C. Westphal and Rev. Raymond E. Walter will be in charge of the service. Chapel service at the cemetery chapel in Wooster will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Friends may call at the Simpson home after 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Mother, 23, Believed Husband's Prisoner

STEVENSVILLE, Oct. 29.—Sheriff Ray Long continued search today for a missing 23-year-old mother and expressed belief her husband had forcibly detained her somewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Starn told "Long that Richard Jacques, 25, forced his wife, Pearl, to leave their home with him Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Starn are parents of the girl and live at Bergholz.

Starn said Jacques threatened to kill the young woman if she did not return to him. Mrs. Jacques had been separated from her husband and two weeks ago started divorce proceedings.

The sheriff traced an automobile in which the couple disappeared to East Liverpool. He asked Cleveland police to be on the lookout for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques have two children, Jean 4, and Richard 2.

Japan To Attend

TOKYO, Oct. 29.—The Japanese government decided today to accept Great Britain's invitation to the London naval conference beginning Dec. 2.

Miss Hodges' 'Don'ts' Insure Her Movie Career For 3 Years

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 29.—"Don'ts" are important in 20-year-old Joy Hodges' insured motion picture career for the next three years. They are:

- Don't marry.
- Don't smoke.
- Don't drink.
- Don't relax present high character values.
- Don't incur adverse public opinion.
- Don't grow lax in pursuing her career.

The actress, former church choir singer in Des Moines, Ia., today displayed an unusual insurance policy listing the "don'ts."

In return, according to Anthony P. Z. Landi, Hollywood insurance broker, it proves $250,000 accident and life insurance, and a rider that guarantees her earnings of at least $125,000 for the next three years.

Miss Joy recently signed a studio (MGM) contract expected to bring her $271,000 over the three year period.

Landi said he represented Lloyds of London. The amount of premiums the actress must pay was not disclosed.

Diminutive Bandit Dies From Poison

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Henry J. "Midget" Fernekes, diminutive desperado recaptured here yesterday following his escape from Joliet penitentiary last Aug. 3, died today after he had been found in his cell at the detective bureau unconscious and frothing at the mouth.

Police expressed belief Fernekes swallowed poison he had concealed in his clothing. He was found on the floor of his cell and after a cursory examination by a physician was ordered taken to a hospital. He died enroute in a police ambulance.

Jockey Denies "Party Murder"

Mrs. Evelyn Slivinski Willie Saunders
When questioned about the "dancing party murder" of Mrs. Evelyn Slivinski, left, Willie Saunders, right, star jockey who rode Omaha to a Derby victory, named another jockey, Walter Schaffer, as the guilty party. Saunders told police that Schaffer was driving when their automobile twice passed over the body of Mrs. Slivinski following a quarrel at a roudhouse near Louisville, Ky.

Roumania to Fete Queen Marie, Now 60

SINAIA, Roumania, Oct. 29.—Roumania's tempestuous royal family gathered today to celebrate the 60th birthday anniversary of Queen Marie—"the queen who was."

She was surrounded by all her children except one daughter, the widowed Queen Marie of Yugoslavia.

A grand dinner will be given tonight by King Carol in honor of his mother.

Her brown hair streaked with silver, Queen Marie greeted Queen Elizabeth of Greece, Princess Ileana of Hapburg, and Prince Nicolas.

Greenberg Gives Self Up In Court

LISBON, Oct. 29.—Harry Greenberg of New York city, for whom application for requisition had been filed by Prosecuting Attorney George L. Lafferty after an indictment had been returned against him for receiving and concealing stolen property, appeared in court here of his own volition, entered a plea of not guilty and was held for trial under bond of $1,500.

The indictment charged Greenberg with receiving 100 gram bottles of liquid gold of the value of $168, the property of the Homer Laughlin China Co., Feb. 24 last.

Globe-Circling Gob Stranded In South

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29. — A sailor who was broke last June and decided to circle the globe in a sailboat by himself to win a $52,000 prize, was in New Orleans today still broke and without his boat, but with 2,500 miles behind him.

His boat is behind him too, a wreck in the Mississippi river.

He is John Patrick Lodge, 45, of Cleveland. He said the prize had been offered by several newspaper companies to the first man to sail around the world by himself.

Little Known Facts About Banks

If Banks Were Operated for Profit Only

Nowhere in the world do the banks provide service to the community ahead of profit as in the United States.

The truth of this is shown in a recent survey, which revealed that "in the average bank 50% of the depositors carry but 3% of the total deposits" . . . In other words, American banks sacrifice profits by providing better banking facilities to more people than is considered necessary by banks in other countries. But that is the "American spirit" of American banking.

Need we add that service to the community comes first at this bank? Here the small depositor receives the same service as the larger depositor, and his account is just as welcome.
